Recipe for a Successful Bridge Tournament

by Kristi Endelicato, President

Why do you play bridge? The answer to that question will reveal exactly what we need to know to host a successful bridge tournament. The only problem—there isn't one answer—there are many answers to that question. Let's investigate.

Reasons people play bridge:

1. for fun
2. the challenge
3. competition
4. geographical proximity
5. meet people/make new friends
6. social interaction
7. an inexpensive activity
8. to kill 4-5 hours
9. to get out of the house
10. mental stimulation/maintain & improve mental faculties
11. it's their job
12. _____

(fill in the blank)

Now, in constructing this recipe for a successful bridge tournament, we find that we need to do the following:

1. for fun—provide a pleasant atmosphere that promotes friendliness, has comfortable temperature levels, good lighting and other amenities
2. the challenge—provide and enforce a set of rules and regulations to be practiced by all participants
3. competition—provide a field of competitive players (this includes all skill levels; Strat A players do not constitute a “competitive field” for Strat C players, and vice versa)
4. geographical proximity—hold the tournament in your neighborhood or make it easy to get to if it's not

5. meet people/make new friends—find a partner for anyone who asks; get lots of people to play, lots of “friendly” people

6. social interaction—get lots of people to play, lots of “friendly” people

7. an inexpensive activity—charge reasonable entry fees, provide free snacks, free coffee, free sodas, free candy (if possible)

8. to kill 4-5 hours—provide 3-3½ hours of bridge (the balance is drive time)

9. to get out of the house—hold your tournament at a public place, not at home

10. mental stimulation/maintain & improve mental faculties—the game of bridge provides the opportunity for mental gymnastics; therefore, play bridge at your tournament

11. it's their job-?????

12. _____ (your reason for playing bridge)

It sounds simple enough, or at least reasonable to be able to pull all these ingredients together. It's certainly not rocket science.

So why isn't every bridge tournament a success? No. 12.

If you don't know why people come to your bridge tournament, how can you provide it?

Denver has had some successful bridge tournaments in the recent past. Our November 2003 tournament drew 458 tables, a record for Denver and in (or very near) the Top 10 sectionals in the US and Canada (700+ sectionals). On the heels of that success, our January 2004 tournament had 468½ tables.

The recipe for a successful bridge tournament? I wish we knew.

The Proper Play and a Little Luck

by Jan Benninghoven

Playing matchpoints I hold ♠A976 ♥542 ♦A873 ♣53. No one vulnerable, LHO is dealer and bids 1♦, partner doubles, RHO passes. Thinking I can't bid one lousy spade with two aces and a worthwhile doubleton, I try 2♠. Partner raises to 3♠. Since I'm sure that if four spades were a worthwhile contract partner would have bid it, I'm happy to pass. ♦K is lead, and I see this:

♠ K543
♥ AK3
♦ 42
♣ AJ86

♠ A976
♥ 542
♦ A873
♣ 53

I am now rather sorry about the whole thing, but at least I only have four clear losers, assuming spades break 3-2. RHO plays the 9♦ which looks like a doubleton, and I have to figure out how to hold my losers to four.

If I win the first diamond trick, lose a diamond then ruff a diamond in dummy, I might get overruffed by a doubleton spade which would make five losers. If I win the first diamond, pull two rounds of trump then lose a diamond, they might be able to draw a third round of trump which would leave me one trick short.

I decide to duck the diamond (to cut their communication) and LHO continues with the Q♦, RHO plays the 6♦ and I win the trick.

If I play two rounds of spades then ruff a diamond I can't get back to my hand without letting them in to cash the third trump. So I lead a club from my hand and cover whatever LHO plays since RHO has no damaging lead. RHO wins and plays a heart which I win, then I play two rounds of trump. Now I can crossruff clubs and diamonds and they can take their high spade any-time.

LHO held the following: ♠Q108 ♥Q7 ♦KQJ105 ♣K104, so if I vary the play in any substantial way I would have been down. If I had bid only one spade, partner might have raised (although he shouldn't), and I would have happily bid four. As it was, I was lucky partner bid only three.

A Few Good Men (and Women)

As most of you know, our regional tournament is just around the corner, May 25-31, 2004 (see details on pgs. 4-5). And as many of you know, hosting a regional tournament requires the planning and coordination of many events and activities. These include hospitality, caddies, partnerships, staffing, supplies, speakers, hotel arrangements, food & beverage service, publicity & advertising, gifts & prizes ... the list goes on.

The unit, with its ten-member board, shoulders the responsibility for making it all happen; hopefully, to your satisfaction. This is where you come in. The unit welcomes anyone who would like to volunteer their time and efforts to the cause.

We have committees responsible for most of the activities—from helping staff the hospitality and partnership desks to helping arrange for all those delicious cookies that appear at Tuesday night's charity game. You can volunteer an hour or several hours of your time. Don't have an hour to spare? Immediately following the final session, 30 minutes to help tear down tables and pack up supplies is a tremendous help.

We're looking for a few good men and women—volunteers who can help make the Denver Regional 2004 a successful event. If you're interested in volunteering, call Carolyn Newcomb, Regional Tournament Chairman at 303.979.9409 or Kristi Endelicato at 303.988.5705 and we'll put you to work.

The pay is lousy but the benefits are great!

Searching for the Perfect Partner?

Do you have a steady bridge partner? Do you prefer to not have a steady bridge partner? Are you looking for Mr./Mrs./Ms. Perfect Bridge Partner?

A good place to look is at the partnership desk. It's happened before. Some casual match-ups through the partnership desk have developed into long-standing and successful bridge partnerships. People who otherwise would never have met, let alone play bridge together, have developed great partnerships by chance.

The unit maintains a list of bridge players who will play on short notice, or agree to be a standby player for that last-minute match-up. If you or someone you know is available to play bridge on an as-needed basis, call Dave Osmundsen, Partnership Chairman, at 303.362.0106 and he'll add you to the list.

If you have a free session in the upcoming regional tournament, consider leaving your name at the partnership desk. Who knows, it could be where you'll find the perfect bridge partner.
