Message from the President

2016 has been a challenging year, but as I look back on it, Unit 361 is in good shape. We have presented six successful tournaments so far. The board has charted a course to reduce spending and balance the budget (see p. 4). The second Mentor/Mentee program was very well received, and we're planning to launch the third iteration in 2017. Other "newer player" initiatives are being discussed and planned.

Thanks to our volunteers

This unit stands on the shoulders of volunteers. The board members and their roles are listed at the left – many thanks to all of you. And let me mention a few others. JERRY RANNEY chaired the 2016 Rocky Mountain Regional – a demanding and incessant task. SHELBY BASTIAANS and FLO NEWLIN helped coordinate the Pro/Am game at the regional. CAROL LEVINSON was the cookie meister for the charity game. JUDI GREENE supported the hospitality desk at the regional. SUSAN MARSHALL coordinated the speaker program. SHIRLEY HEINSOHN managed partnership, and the Mentor/Mentee game at the July sectional (and served on the board through the July sectional).

Board elections

Of the five board positions which are up for election this year, four board members are running again (see pp. 2-3). One board member is departing: SHERRY CLINT, who stepped up to fill a vacancy and has been an outstanding secretary. We couldn't convince her to run again, but thanks, Sherry, for your service. And thanks to BONNIE JANZEN and VARD NELSON who also stepped up to fill vacancies, and are running for re-election. We couldn't do it without you.

Email communications

The ACBL has released a new program that makes it much easier to communicate from the board to the members. You've already received a couple of emails from the board – expect to receive more. Email is fast, convenient, and free, so we'll be sending you information on local bridge events on a timely manner. If you don't want to receive these emails, update your privacy settings on the ACBL website. If you aren't receiving these emails and you want to, make sure that your email address is correctly listed with the ACBL, and your privacy settings are set appropriately.

It's been a privilege and a pleasure to serve as Unit 361 president for 2016. All the best for the remainder of this year, and for 2017.

Margaret Devere

Candidates for Board – 2017-2018 Term

The nominating committee is pleased to present the following candidates for the Unit board, for the two-year term beginning in 2017. The list is in alphabetical order.

The election will be held at the annual membership meeting, 2:45 pm on Saturday, November 12, just before the second Saturday session.

Margaret Devere

I have played duplicate bridge in Denver for the last 15 years. Before that, I played casual bridge at the late lamented John Galt's coffee house, three or four nights a week and most of the weekends. I am just about to retire from a career in technical writing and computer systems, and I am happy to offer my skills to the Denver unit. I have served on the board for the last three years, as publicity chair, website chair, and president. The game of bridge is in transition and I'd like to help ensure that we not only survive but thrive.

Wayne Eckerling

I worked for the Denver Public Schools for 34 years as a teacher, psychologist, and administrator. From 1997 through 2005 when I retired, I was an assistant superintendent with responsibilities that included planning, research, testing and evaluation, federal programs, and curriculum. Since retiring, I have worked as consultant to schools and organizations focusing on accountability and educational policy. From 2008 to 2014, I was on the Colorado Charter School Institute Board of Directors and served as Board chair for four years. My skill set includes planning and project management, effective oral and written communication, and board member experience. I have been playing bridge for about three years and am an I/N player. My wife and I usually play about three times a week. As a board member, I would like to find ways to encourage more people to play duplicate bridge and continue to offer high-quality local tournaments.

Bonnie Janzen

I am running for election to the Board of Directors of the Denver ACBL Unit (361). Since my recent retirement and relocation to Colorado, I've begun to volunteer to support bridge. Performing the role of Hospitality Chair for the 2015 Denver Nationals gave me a taste of the level of effort from hundreds of volunteers needed to make our tournaments a success. My subsequent one year appointment to a board vacancy has expanded my understanding of the process, and the opportunity to make a contribution to Denver bridge has been personally rewarding. As Unit Hospitality Chair and highly engaged board member, I've worked to continue our unit's tradition of successful tournaments, strengthen our financial position, and support new player acquisition and development. In order to continue these efforts, I hope to be elected to the Unit board for the 2017-2018 term.

Tournament Schedule 2016—2017

Event	Date
November Sectional	November 11-13, 2016
January Sectional	January 13-15, 2017
March Sectional	March 31-April 2, 2017

Rocky Mountain Regional	May 23-29, 2017
July Sectional	July 7-9, 2017
Fall IN Sectional	September 30-October 1, 2017
Fall Sectional	November 10-12, 2017

Candidates (continued)

Al Kane

Vital statistics: I am a septuagenarian and live with my life partner En Hay in Highlands Ranch. I have two grownup children, Alex and Stephanie, now with their own families. I had a 33 year career as an archeologist with the University of Colorado and the US Forest Service. In addition to bridge, I enjoy gardening and my stamp collection.

I learned bridge at the Student Union, University of Colorado, Boulder in the 1960s. Among my early mentors and partners were Roger Plowman, Bud Menzel and Romy Gerould. I am now a platinum LM with 13000 masterpoints.

Favorite offensive convention: XYZ. Favorite defensive convention: Smith. Favorite bridge quotation: "Every card I play means something." - Dom DiFelice

Why I like bridge: you can learn something new (or relearn something you forgot) every session.

Why I am running for re-election: I believe our Denver Unit tournaments are among the best in District 17 and probably nation-wide. I would like to continue working with the members of the Denver Unit Board to maintain our high quality tournament standards.

Vard Nelson

I have been playing off and on since about 1963. Socially until 2009, when I played my first tournament, the Fall Sectional in Golden. Had a wonderful time, and was hooked. Played in Hungary, including my first international tournament, then back in the U.S., then played in Poland for a year and a half, finally back to the U.S.

I think the reputation of Denver Bridge has its foundation in how well we attract top flight players to our events. As such, we should pay close attention to the kinds of events our A Level players want to play. And, I think the future of Denver Bridge rests on how well we can attract players who are new to tournament play. As such, I support considering the adoption of a "0-5 MP Play Free!" policy, not only for certain events on certain days. This might well be considered an investment, rather than an expense.

I have served on the board for the last six months, filling a vacancy. If re-elected, I will continue to work to support our elite players, attract those new to tournaments, encourage those in the quest for the ever-elusive Master Points, and welcome all the players who just love this game!

To All Snowbirds

Jim Calhoun, Membership Chair

It is fast approaching that time of year when our snowbirds leave the Denver area and travel to their warmer retreats. When you do this, your Bridge Bulletin magazine follows you as soon as ACBL gets notice of your new address.

What you may not know is that ACBL automatically transfers your membership to the Unit corresponding to your new address, and starts sending your membership dues to that unit.

If you would like to keep your membership in Unit 361, contact ACBL directly and tell them that Unit 361 is to be your permanent unit. If you do this, your Bridge Bulletin and other bridge newspapers will follow you to your new address without any interruption in service whatsoever, and at the same time, Unit 361 will keep you in our books and directory, keep sending you information on Unit events, and receive your membership dues.

Goodwill Committee Appointment

Shirley Heinsohn was nominated by Jerry Ranney to the District 17 Goodwill Committee, in recognition of her years of service as a board member and volunteer. The appointment was approved.

Congratulations Shirley!

Balancing the budget

If you've been following the financial status of Unit 361, you know that Unit 361 lost money during 2014 and 2015, due to these twin factors:

- Tournament attendance is declining
- Costs are increasing

Although Unit 361 has a cushion, and we're not in the red yet, our burn rate was going to land us in the red within the next five years.

We have taken the following steps to try to balance our budget:

- Eliminate Thursday night at the sectionals
- Eliminate the free lunch on Saturday at the sectionals
- Publish the directory every other year
- Distribute Table Talk electronically only

July 2016 was the test sectional, and we're happy to report that the unit made a modest profit.

Awards ?

Lou Neff Award: Given to the Colorado player winning the most points at the Rocky Mountain Regional.

Frank Thorwald Trophy: Given to the person(s) winning the most points in 199er events at the Rocky Mountain Regional.

GNT? NAP? STaC?

Jim Calhoun, Membership Chair

There are several abbreviations floating around in bridge circles that could use some definition.

GNT-Grand National Teams

To start, your team must play in and qualify at a club of your choice holding a Swiss Team Game. Check with clubs for dates and times of qualifying games. Once qualified, you may compete at the regional level at the appropriate regional tournament in District 17. At the regional, you will compete for a chance to play for the national title. The national competition is held during the summer NABC.

There are four flights in the GNTs:

- Open (unlimited points)
- A Flight with any player not having more than 6000 points
- B Flight with any player not having more than 2500 points
- C Flight with any nonlife master not having more than 500 points.

Winning teams may qualify for a stipend to help offset the cost of competing at the summer NABC (see conditions of contest at ACBL).

NAP-North American Pairs (was NAOP, North American Open Pairs)

Each club can hold two NAP (North American Pairs) games per sanctioned session during each of the months of June, July and August. These games award 100% sectional-rated half red/half black masterpoints. This grassroots event is staged in qualifying rounds at the club, unit and district levels. It culminates in a final held in conjunction with the spring NABC.

The contest is run as a stratiflighted event:

- Flight A (Open)
- Flight B (fewer than 2500 masterpoints as of the June masterpoint cycle)
- Flight C (Non-Life Master with fewer than 500 masterpoints as of June)

Please check your June Bridge Bulletin for your masterpoint total.

Winning pairs may qualify for a stipend to help offset cost of competing at the Spring NABC (see conditions of contest at ACBL).

STaC-Sectional Tournament at Clubs:

Sectional Tournaments at Clubs (STaCs) provide bridge players with the opportunity to win silver points at their local clubs. The same hands are played across multiple clubs, and district-wide results are computed.

Players can win:

- Black points for club results
- Silver points for district-wide results

FROM THEN TILL NOW

Forest Clark

1370 members and $81,000 in the bank.

These figures represent the current membership and financial position of the Denver Bridge Unit of the American Contract Bridge League. This organization exists for the purpose of promoting and conducting activities designed to enhance the growth and enjoyment of competitive contract bridge. In a recent discussion concerning the status, welfare, and goals of the Unit, the current president, Margaret Devere, asked if I could compose what she called a “retrospective,” reciting some of the history that has led the Unit 361 from its non- existence to where it is today. I agreed to try.

No firm information on the first duplicate bridge games in Denver is available. There were club games being played on the date of the assassination of President JF Kennedy on November 22, 1963. At least two clubs were located in the old Sears complex at what is now the site of the Cherry Creek Shopping Center. The Denver Unit was probably in existence at that time, sponsoring sectional and regional tournaments. On September 21, 1976, I filed Articles of Incorporation under the Colorado Nonprofit Corporation Act subject to the state's law and the rules of the IRS. No mention in those papers was made to "Unit 361" and I assume that number was later assigned by the ACBL. Members of the original Board of Directors included Don Heitler and Lois Scott (now Lois Schmied), who are still members of the Unit.

Prior to the incorporation things are a bit less remembered. At least two clubs were functioning at that time: the aforementioned club in the Cherry Creek area, owned and operated at different times by Bill Puryear, Bob Baptist, and Maxine and Jim Chambers, and a club known as the Bridge Center, located at the intersection of I-25 and Evans. The Bridge Center was owned by Bill Fox, who purchased it from Claude and Nadine Potter. Bill operated that club (mostly at a different location) until 1980 when he embarked on a new career as a director specializing in overseeing bridge cruises. Bill says that he spent over 8000 nights at sea acting in that capacity prior to his retirement a few years ago.

Bridge was flourishing in that era. Clubs appeared in other areas of the city and suburbs: Arvada, Littleton, Englewood, Lakewood, among others. Owners and directors included Helen Jenkins and June Holbrook. More and later clubs and owners came along later and added their contribution to the bridge community.

In 1965, Denver's first home-grown national champion graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School and began what has been a remarkable bridge career. Jan Janitschke and his younger brother, Craig, became the most formidable partnership in the area, winning events at sectionals and regionals with regularity. The brothers won a National Team event in Chicago before Craig moved to Washington State where he became a regular and successful partner to the legendary Barry Crane. Denver has had other national champions—Chuck Henke, Danny Mordecai, Jack Bitman, Dick Lesko, Patty Norman, perhaps others, most of who got started in the Denver area in the 1970s. Chuck Henke was the exception. He won the Blue Ribbon pairs in 1965 before he immigrated to Denver. In the present day, national champion Brad Mass is living in Denver.

Masterpoints were recorded in a different manner in those times. All points won in tournaments were awarded by and recorded with the ACBL headquarters. All points won at the club level were issued to the players on a receipt-like form. The form was approximately twice the size of a common business card, and almost always, the number of masterpoints won at a time was less than one. To receive credit for the points, the individual player had to send the forms by mail to the ACBL offices. During that period, Len Smith, bridge writer for the Denver Post, caused the names of the three top finishers in the club games to be published in the Post. This may have been in furtherance of a misguided attempt to give recognition to Contract Bridge as an Olympic Sport.

Len contributed to the advancement of Denver Bridge in other ways. For several years he promoted an annual bridge game where a busload of Denver players would travel to Canon City and play a two-session event at the state prison with inmates from there, participating in what had to be a welcome diversion from their daily routine. Len was succeeded at the Post by Jared Johnson who ardently wrote about Denver Bridge for decades until the Post succumbed to modern day economics and, as a cost-cutting measure, eliminated the local coverage of bridge.

Statistics relative to membership and finances for that interim are difficult to assemble. We know that in 1976, there was sufficient interest among the playing group to support incorporation. Prior to the incorporation, the Unit had been staging sectional and regional tournaments and performing other duties inherent to bridge competition. One of these duties was to compile and publish annual membership directories. The oldest of these that could be found is the directory for the year 1996. The cover of that directory was designed by Beth Nelowet, who still plays. The booklet lists approximately 1200 members, some 200 of whom are still active, starting with A (Bill Allegar) and ending with Y (Ernie Young, who still has the same address). Membership has fluctuated but remained fairly constant up to and including today's date.

Unit finances have not been quite so steady. While the current bank balance of $81,000 is sufficient to cover us in the event of some unforeseen catastrophes, the present conditions have not always been so good. There was once a time when one of the Unit's presidents made a personal loan to the Unit so that current expenses could be met. That occurred either just before or just after the incorporation.

Since that loan (which has been repaid ☺), the Unit has had a sound financial record. Income comes from membership fees (a portion of the membership fees paid to the ACBL are remitted to the units) and entry fees at the Unit-sponsored sectional and regional tournaments. Historically we have made money on the Regional—it is the source of about half the Unit income—and have sometimes made money and sometimes lost money on the Sectionals. In the past two or three years we have lost money on the Sectionals, causing the present board to address and to take cost-cutting steps to correct that trend. Circumstances beyond the control of the Unit, such as bad weather or a special Broncos game, can affect attendance enough to determine the profitability of a Sectional.

The annual Rocky Mountain Regional has been held at many locations over the years: the Regency Hotel (the tall circular building north on I-25, repurposed several times over the years and maybe now a student dormitory), the Merchandise Mart, the Hyatt Regency Hotel in the Denver Tech Center, the Renaissance. All were great locations at the time. Costs continue to rise, possibly forcing us to consider new locations in the future, but the Memorial Day Regional will continue to be a focal point of the Denver Unit.

A couple of facts about the Regionals: (1) We as a group have been asked to leave two tournament sites, once because our players continued to wander into restricted areas despite being warned that such activity could lead to expulsion, and once because a group of smokers set off a fire alarm while smoking in a stairwell. (We also lost a Sectional site when a smoker went to sleep lying on a couch and the couch caught fire.) (2) Our annual Regional was at one time held over the 4th of July rather than Memorial Day.

The progression in Denver Bridge has been rather steady in the last forty years. The club owners mentioned earlier have for the most part disappeared from the scene and a newer group has kept the lifeline of bridge—the clubs—active and progressive. In 1980 Mike Thompson opened his club on South Broadway in Denver. He has operated a club ever since that date at various locations—Santa Fe Drive, Littleton, Colorado and Evans and his present location on Leetsdale Drive. Also in 1980, Bill Fox sold his club and a line of successors followed: Allen LaTuchie, Mike Radcliffe, and Marvel Heinsohn. Add to this list Paul Ossip who currently owns the largest active club in the Denver Area. Other owners who have made significant contributions to bridge in Denver include Sharon Wells, Virginia Gunter, Warren Garrett, Mary Ann Pixley, Joe and Virginia Sewall, Robert Kelly, June Holbrook, Helen Jenkins, Georgia Wilson, Steve Wainz, and many others whom I may have forgotten to mention. All of these individuals have contributed much more to the game of bridge than they have received in compensation. They all should be applauded and commended.

One last bit of trivia—Bill Fox at one time instituted a policy of providing free beer to the players on Thursday night. This happened on only two or three occasions; then the officials of the City and County of Denver declared that such a procedure constituted the offense of selling liquor without a license and put a halt to this innovation.

We are where we are. Denver Bridge faces the problems of an aging constituency, internet alternatives, and rising costs, all of which will probably be solved in the future as other problems have been solved in the past.

Leastways, all have been solved up till now.

We got here.
